

The background of the image is a dense thicket of bare, tangled tree branches and shrubs. The branches are light-colored, possibly bleached or dead, and are set against a backdrop of a body of water. The water is calm and reflects the surrounding greenery and sky. The overall scene is somewhat somber and desolate, which complements the text overlay.

Lamentations 05:19 Thou, O LORD, remainest for ever; thy throne
from generation to generation.