

A vibrant, high-angle photograph of a waterfall. The water is crystal clear and cascades down a dark, wet rock face, creating a misty spray at the bottom. The surrounding area is filled with lush green plants, including ferns and grasses, which are slightly out of focus, emphasizing the waterfall as the central subject. The lighting is bright, highlighting the textures of the water and the surrounding vegetation.

Malachi 01:02 I have loved you, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not Esau Jacob's brother? saith the LORD: yet I loved Jacob,