

A close-up photograph of a rocky streambed. On the left, a plant with green leaves and clusters of small, white, bell-shaped flowers grows from the rocks. The rocks are dark, wet, and have a mottled appearance. To the right, water flows over the rocks, creating a soft, blurred background of light and dark spots.

Acts 07:33 Then said the Lord to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest is holy ground.
