

A close-up photograph of green iris leaves, which are long and pointed, filling the background. The leaves are slightly out of focus, creating a soft, natural texture. Overlaid on this background is a block of text in a white, serif font. The text is centered and reads: "Genesis 30:40 And Jacob did separate the lambs, and set the faces of the flocks toward the ringstreaked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban; and he put his own flocks by themselves, and put them not unto Laban's cattle." The text is arranged in eight lines, with the first line being the longest and the last line being the shortest.

Genesis 30:40 And Jacob did separate the lambs, and set the faces of the flocks toward the ringstreaked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban; and he put his own flocks by themselves, and put them not unto Laban's cattle.