

A close-up photograph of a riverbed. The foreground is filled with smooth, rounded stones of various sizes and shades of brown, tan, and grey. A narrow, shallow stream of water flows through the center, its surface reflecting the bright sunlight, creating shimmering patterns. The background shows more stones and the continuation of the stream, slightly out of focus.

Isaiah 64:10 Thy holy cities are a wilderness, Zion is a wilderness, Jerusalem a desolation.