

The image features two large, vibrant roses in full bloom, positioned in the lower half of the frame. The roses have a gradient of colors, ranging from bright yellow at the center to deep orange and red at the edges of the petals. The background is dark and out of focus, highlighting the intricate details of the flower petals and stamens. Overlaid on the upper half of the image is a block of white text in a bold, serif font, which reads: "Jeremiah 26:03 If so be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil, which I purpose to do unto them because of the evil of their doings." The text is centered and spans across the width of the image, partially overlapping the top of the roses.

Jeremiah 26:03 If so be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil, which I purpose to do unto them because of the evil of their doings.