

Acts 09:24 But their laying await was known of Saul. And they watched the gates day and night to kill him.

A close-up photograph of a bright red flower, possibly a species of ginger or similar, with large, glossy green leaves. The flower is the central focus, with its petals showing some texture and color variations. The background is slightly blurred, showing a stone wall on the right and more greenery on the left. The text is overlaid in white, bold, sans-serif font.