

A close-up photograph of a lupine plant. The central focus is a tall, slender stem covered in a dense cluster of small, bell-shaped flowers. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, showing shades of pink, purple, and blue. The leaves are bright green and have a characteristic palmate shape with several leaflets radiating from a central point. The background is a soft-focus field of similar lupine plants, creating a lush, green environment. The lighting is bright and natural, highlighting the textures of the petals and leaves.

Exodus 10:02 And that thou mayest tell in the ears of thy son, and of thy son's son, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my signs which I have done among them; that ye may know how that I am the LORD.