

A close-up photograph of a cluster of purple pansies. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The petals are a deep, rich purple, and the centers are a bright yellow. The background is a soft-focus garden with green foliage and some brown leaves on the ground.

Job 31:36 Surely I would take it upon my shoulder, and bind it as a crown to me.
