

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of bright orange roses. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some showing the classic spiral pattern of the petals. The background is filled with dark green, serrated leaves, creating a rich, textured backdrop for the flowers. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate texture of the petals.

John 06:55 For my flesh is meat
indeed, and my blood is drink
indeed.