

A close-up photograph of a large bush of lavender. The image is filled with numerous vertical stems, each bearing a dense spike of small, vibrant purple flowers. The leaves are a bright, healthy green, providing a strong contrast to the purple blossoms. The overall scene is lush and textured, with the flowers in various stages of bloom.

Leviticus 25:43 Thou shalt not rule over him with rigour; but shalt fear
thy God.