

A photograph of a garden bed featuring several green iris plants. The plants have long, narrow, blade-like leaves that are a vibrant green color. They are growing out of a bed of brown mulch, which includes dried leaves and twigs. The ground is also scattered with several large, brown, fallen leaves, some of which are partially covered by the plants. The lighting is natural, highlighting the texture of the leaves and the mulch.

Matthew 21:17 And he left them, and went out of the city into Bethany; and he lodged there.
