

Luke 06:41 And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye?

A vibrant garden scene with lush green foliage. In the foreground, there are several large, serrated green leaves. A small, bright orange flower is visible in the middle ground. Two white butterflies with blue markings on their wings are fluttering around. In the lower foreground, there are small, reddish-pink flowers on a thin stem. The background is filled with more green leaves and flowers, creating a dense and colorful environment.