

A close-up photograph of a field of golden wheat stalks. The stalks are densely packed and illuminated by bright, warm sunlight, creating a rich golden-brown color. The texture of the wheat heads and the long, thin stalks is clearly visible. The background is slightly blurred, emphasizing the foreground stalks.

Psalm 132:02 How he swore unto the LORD, and vowed unto the mighty God of Jacob;