

A close-up photograph of a vibrant purple flower, likely a petunia, with several large, ruffled petals. The flower is the central focus, with its rich purple color contrasting against a blurred background of green leaves and other purple flowers. The lighting is bright, highlighting the texture of the petals and the dew-like droplets on their surface. The overall composition is soft and natural, with a shallow depth of field that keeps the main flower sharp while the background is out of focus.

Ezekiel 07:07 The morning is come unto thee, O thou that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the sounding again of the mountains.