

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of hydrangea flowers. The flowers are in various shades of purple, from light lavender to deep, rich purple, with some pinkish-purple blossoms. The petals are numerous and layered, creating a textured appearance. Green leaves are interspersed among the flowers, providing a natural background. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate structure of the petals.

Mark 09:37 Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.