

Matthew 18:11 For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost.

A close-up photograph of white roses with green leaves and buds, serving as a background for the text. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate petals and the vibrant green of the leaves and buds. The background is slightly blurred, creating a sense of depth and focus on the flowers.