

A close-up photograph of a cluster of vibrant pink hydrangea flowers. The petals are large and layered, with some showing delicate veining. The background is a soft-focus green, suggesting foliage. The text is overlaid in white, bold, serif font, centered across the upper half of the image.

Joshua 08:06 For they will come out after us till we have drawn them from the city; for they will say, They flee before us, as at the first: therefore we will flee before them.