

A photograph of a pond with several large, round, green lily pads floating on the water. The water is dark and reflects the surrounding greenery and sky. The text is overlaid in white, bold, serif font.

Psalms 77:16 The waters saw thee, O God, the waters saw thee; they were afraid: the depths also were troubled.