

A large, layered rock formation, possibly a natural rock shelter or a large boulder, is situated in a stream. The rock is light-colored with distinct horizontal layers. The stream flows through a dense forest of green trees and bushes. The water is clear, reflecting the surrounding greenery and the rock. The scene is captured in a natural, outdoor setting with soft lighting, suggesting a peaceful, wooded area.

John 06:07 Philip answered him,
Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
