

Daniel 10:10 And, behold, an hand touched me, which set me upon my knees and upon the palms of my hands.

The background of the image is a sky filled with large, dark, and textured clouds. A bright light source, likely the sun, is positioned behind the clouds, creating a strong backlighting effect. This results in the edges of the clouds being illuminated with a golden-yellow glow, while the interior of the clouds remains dark and shadowed. The overall atmosphere is one of awe and divine presence, consistent with the biblical text overlaid on the image.