

A background image of a pond with reeds and cattails. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.

Genesis 09:15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh.