

A close-up photograph of purple flowers, likely asters, in a field. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The background is a soft, out-of-focus field of similar flowers under a warm, golden light.

Ecclesiastics 07:05 It is better to hear the rebuke of the wise, than
for a man to hear the song of fools.