Word Study for --- WEAR

A wide-angle photograph of a mountainous landscape, likely the Grand Canyon, showing multiple layers of rock formations. The foreground is dominated by dark, layered cliffs. In the middle ground, a prominent, light-colored rock formation rises, featuring a large, rounded peak. The background shows more distant, layered mountains under a sky filled with soft, grey clouds.

A photograph of a deep canyon with layered rock walls. The colors range from dark red at the base to light tan at the top. Sparse green vegetation, including small trees and shrubs, grows on ledges and in the crevices of the rocks. The perspective is from a low angle, looking down the length of the canyon.
