

A scenic view of a rocky coastline. In the foreground, a large, dense green pine tree is visible on the right side. The middle ground shows a dark, sandy beach curving along the edge of a body of water. The background features large, light-colored rock formations with some greenery growing on them. The text is overlaid in the upper center of the image.

Luke 12:21 So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.