

A landscape photograph featuring a large, dark rock formation in the foreground. The rock has a natural opening or cave-like structure. To the left, there are some green trees. The ground is a mix of dirt and gravel, with a small puddle of water near the rock. In the background, there are rolling hills under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds.

Mat 27:47 Some of them that stood there, when they heard [that], said, This [man] calleth for Elias.
