

An aerial photograph of a vast, blue body of water, likely a bay or a large river delta. The water is deep blue and reflects the sky. A prominent, winding river or channel cuts through the water, creating several islands and peninsulas. The land is a mix of green vegetation and light brown/tan soil. The sky is a pale, hazy blue with some light clouds. The overall scene is serene and expansive.

Luk 16:23 And in hell he lift up his eyes,
being in torments, and seeth Abraham
afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.