

A dense forest with tall, moss-covered trees and a thick carpet of green moss on the ground. The scene is captured in a slightly low-angle perspective, looking down a path or clearing. The trees are dark and gnarled, with thick layers of moss growing on their trunks and branches. The ground is covered in a lush, vibrant green moss, creating a textured and somewhat ethereal atmosphere. The lighting is soft and diffused, filtering through the canopy of leaves and branches.

Luk 24:41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any meat?
