

A close-up photograph of a large bush of flowers, likely azaleas, in full bloom. The flowers are a mix of vibrant pink, light orange, and pale yellow colors, with some darker pink buds. The green leaves are interspersed among the blossoms, creating a lush, textured appearance. The lighting is bright, highlighting the delicate petals and the overall vibrancy of the scene.

Joh 11:26 And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.
Believest thou this?