

A photograph of a cave interior, showing a variety of rock formations. In the foreground, there are several long, thin, light-colored stalactites hanging from the ceiling. The background features more complex rock structures, including what appears to be a stalagmite. The lighting is somewhat dim, highlighting the textures and colors of the cave walls and formations.

Genesis 40:07 And he asked Pharaoh's officers that were with him in the ward of his lord's house, saying, Wherefore look ye so sadly to day?