

A close-up photograph of a large number of white lilies. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The green leaves are long and narrow, interspersed among the white petals. The background is a soft-focus field of more lilies, creating a sense of depth and abundance.

Genesis 44:30 Now therefore when I come to thy servant my father, and the lad be not with us; seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life;