

Genesis 09:19 These are the three sons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overspread.

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of flowers. In the foreground, three large, fully bloomed white roses are the central focus, their petals showing a soft, creamy white color with subtle yellowish undertones. Behind them, a dense cluster of small, delicate white baby's breath flowers adds texture and depth to the arrangement. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the same flowers, creating a sense of a large, lush bouquet. The lighting is natural and soft, highlighting the delicate textures of the petals.