

A scenic view of a rocky coastline. The foreground shows dark, layered rock formations with white foam from waves crashing against them. The middle ground features a wide expanse of blue-green water with white-capped waves rolling in. In the background, a dense forest of tall, thin trees covers a hillside that meets the water's edge. The overall atmosphere is rugged and natural.

1st Kings 13:09 For so was it charged me by the word of the LORD, saying, Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the same way that thou camest.