

A serene winter landscape with snow-covered evergreen trees and a calm lake. The scene is captured in a soft, blue-toned light, suggesting a misty or overcast day. The foreground features a large, snow-laden evergreen tree on the left, its branches reaching towards the center. In the middle ground, a dark, still lake reflects the surrounding environment, bordered by a thick layer of snow. The background is filled with a dense forest of snow-covered evergreens, extending to a hazy horizon. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and quiet.

1st Kings 19:17 And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth the sword of Hazael shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay.