

A close-up photograph of a pink rose with water droplets on its petals. The rose is the central focus, with its many layers of petals creating a complex, textured pattern. The color is a soft, vibrant pink, and the water droplets are scattered across the surface, adding a fresh and delicate feel. The background is dark and out of focus, making the rose stand out prominently.

1st Kings 20:18 And he said, Whether they be come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive.