

A photograph of a calm body of water, possibly a pond or a slow-moving stream, reflecting the sky and the surrounding greenery. The water is a deep blue-grey color with gentle ripples. In the background, there is a grassy bank with some trees and a construction site with orange safety cones and equipment. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

1st Kings 05:13 And king Solomon raised a levy out of all Israel; and the levy was thirty thousand men.
