

A large, layered rock formation, possibly a cliff face or a large rock wall, composed of reddish-brown, angular blocks. The rocks are stacked in a somewhat regular pattern, suggesting a natural geological layering. The sky is a clear, bright blue. Sparse, dry grasses and small plants are scattered across the top and base of the rock formation. The overall scene is arid and rugged.

1st Kings 06:03 And the porch before the temple of the house, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the house; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the house.