

A close-up photograph of a waterfall. Water is cascading over dark, wet rocks, creating white foam and splashing. The scene is framed by dense, vibrant green ivy leaves that cover the rocks and the surrounding area. The lighting is soft, highlighting the textures of the water and the leaves.

2nd Chronicles 05:07 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD unto his place, to the oracle of the house, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims: