

A monarch butterfly is perched on a pine needle, its wings showing characteristic orange and black patterns. The background is a clear blue sky with a dense network of dark pine needles in the foreground, creating a textured, grid-like pattern.

Ezra 02:59 And these were they which went up from Telmelah, Telharsa, Cherub, Addan, and Immer: but they could not show their father's house, and their seed, whether they were of Israel: