

A photograph of a beach with waves crashing onto the shore. The water is a deep blue, and the sand is a light tan color. The waves are white with foam as they break. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

Job 16:15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.