

Job 28:15 It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

The background of the image shows a vast field of harvested green crops, likely seaweed or a similar marine plant. The plants are cut into large, tangled piles of stalks and roots, with some green leaves still attached. The ground is dark and appears to be a mix of soil and seaweed residue. The overall scene is one of a busy harvesting operation in a coastal or marine environment.
