

Job 30:01 But now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock.

A scenic view of a beach with waves crashing against a rocky island in the background under a clear blue sky. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.