

A dark, moody photograph of a river with white water rapids. The water is turbulent and white with foam, contrasting sharply with the dark, shadowed banks. The background is mostly black, with some green foliage visible on the right side. The text is overlaid in a clean, white, sans-serif font.

Job 10:02 I will say unto God, Do not condemn me; show me wherefore thou contendest with me.