

Psalm 34:16 The face of the LORD is against them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

A close-up photograph of several dark purple roses. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The petals are a deep, rich purple color, and the centers of the flowers show yellow stamens. The background is filled with green leaves and more purple roses, creating a lush, textured scene. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate structure of the petals.