

A close-up photograph of several carnations. The flowers are primarily white with vibrant red variegated stripes and spots. Numerous clear water droplets are scattered across the petals, creating a fresh and dewy appearance. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the same flowers and green foliage.

Psalm 76:12 He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the kings of the earth.