

A close-up photograph of two roses. The rose on the left is a vibrant orange color with yellow centers, while the rose on the right is pure white. Both roses are in full bloom, showing detailed petal textures. In the background, there are several green rose buds and dark green leaves, some with visible thorns on the stems. The lighting is bright, highlighting the colors and textures of the flowers.

Proverbs 01:22 How long, ye simple ones, will ye love simplicity? and the scorners delight in their scorning, and fools hate knowledge?