The background image shows a natural, somewhat rugged landscape. On the right side, there is a rocky outcrop with dark, jagged stones. To the left and in the center, there is a dense patch of dry, brownish grass and some green plants. A prominent feature is a large, dark, shadowed area in the center-left, which could be a hole or a deep crevice in the ground. The overall scene is lit with natural light, creating a mix of dark and light tones.
