

A close-up photograph of a white bird's face, likely a dove, showing a scall (a skin condition) on its forehead. The scall is a dark, irregularly shaped area with some black hair growing from it. The bird's eyes are closed, and its beak is visible. The background is dark and out of focus.

Leviticus 13:37 But if the scall be in his sight at a stay, and that there is black hair grown up therein; the scall is healed, he is clean: and the priest shall pronounce him clean.
