

A close-up photograph of a dark, textured stone basin. Water is falling from the top center into the basin, creating a splash and many small bubbles. The water is dark and reflective. In the background, there are bright green leaves, some of which are in focus and others are blurred. The overall lighting is dramatic, with highlights on the water and leaves.

Leviticus 25:47 And if a sojourner or stranger wax rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him wax poor, and sell himself unto the stranger or sojourner by thee, or to the stock of the stranger's family: