

A close-up photograph of a single, vibrant red rose in full bloom, positioned in the upper center of the frame. The rose's petals are rich and layered, showing some natural texture. To its right, another red rose is partially visible, slightly out of focus. The background is a bright, clear blue sky filled with soft, white, fluffy clouds. Below the sky, a blurred green landscape suggests a garden or park setting with various plants and trees. The overall lighting is bright and natural, creating a serene and beautiful scene.

Jeremiah 49:23:19 Behold, a whirlwind is gone forth in fury, even grievous whirlwind: it shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked.